Democratic Nominees.

For Accomac:

S. WILKINS MATTHEWS.

For Accomac and Northampton:

DR. CHAS. SMITH.

For Accomac and Elizabeth City

BAKER P. LEE.

The voters of Accomac will find at the head of editorial column this week the names of the Democratic nominees for the House of Delegates to be voted for at the election to be held, Tuesday, November 5th. That, we cordially endorse them, goes without saying, that they are worthy of the support of every voter of the county, whatever his political proclivities, we believe, that they will receive the votes of all Democratic voters who go to polls on election day at least is to be expected. Two of the nominees, Mr. S. W. Matthews and Major Baker P. Lee are without an opponent and the right of suffrage to be worth anything, if exercised at all must be for them—the other nominee, Dr. Charles Smith, has an opponent in the person of Mr. N. J. LeCato, who is a candidate merely for the fun of it or expects his reward hereafter from Republicans and certainly without expectation of being elected by Democratic votes. Unwilling to trust Democratic voters lie of course does not expect their support. The certainty of the success of the whole Democratic ticket, however, does not release us of the obligation to roll up a large vote for them. The banner Democratic county of the State has a reputation at stake and is expected to be on guard at all times whether her old enemy confronts her or not. Our nominees have the right to expect it, the prestige of the party demands it and the election of Dr. Smith, however remotely in peril, should not be taken for granted, but be believed by our votes of the slightest chance of defeat. Go to the polls, Democrats, and cast your votes.

It is now a settled fact that a monument on the Eastern Shore, to the memory of our brave soldiers who fell defending the "Lost Cause." It remains for us—the people of Accomac and Northampton—to decide what kind of a monument shall be raised and when shall it be done. The efforts of the old soldiers have resulted in raising a fund of about seven hundred dollars, which has been deposited in bank, on interest. This fund has been raised exclusively for the building of this monument, and should no additions be made to it, those having the matter in charge would feel incumbent upon them to build such a structure as the means at their command would allow. We are assured by the veterans of Harmanston-West Camp that they do not intend to relax in their efforts to increase the amount already in hand, but they doubtless feel, as we do, that if we are to have such a monument as will be a fit tribute to the memory of our brave dead, and have it in the near future, joint efforts should be made by that part of our people outside the Camp. It is a matter that concerns all alike. The old soldiers are not to be benefitted except so far as it goes to gratifying their earnest wish to see perpetuated the memory of their fallen comrades. This should be as dear to us as to them. We feel that we voice the wishes of the good people of our two counties when we say this monument should be built at an early day, and it should be one to which we could point with pride and say: "This we gave to the memory of those who gave their lives defending our Southern land." To this end, let us give the veterans of Harmanston-West Camp our hearty cooperation, let us form a memorial association, with the avowed purpose to raise, jointly with the old soldiers, a fund that will insure, at an early day, a monument that will reflect credit to ourselves and do honor to the memory of those whose deeds and memory are deeply enshrined in our hearts. Who will move in the matter?

Senator Hill expresses himself as confident of Democratic success in New York next month. He says there is absolute unanimity everywhere for the state ticket, and that many Republicans will vote for that ticket. In New Jersey the Democrats have nominated a very popular man for Governor, and everything points to Democratic success. The same reports come from Indiana and Ohio.

A Confederate monument will be unveiled in New York on next Decoration Day, when it is estimated the number of Confederates living in New York, which will parade on that day, will foot up 10,000 men.

Hon. R. A. Richardson, ex-judge of the Court of Appeals of Virginia, died last week at Marion. He was elected to the bench by the Readjusters.

Management of the Affairs of the State Under Democratic Rule.

The number and efficiency of the Public Free Schools has been steadily increased, and the State now annually contributes to their support rather more than nine hundred and thirty thousand dollars ($930,000). The Normal School at Farnville, for females, has been established where teachers for the public schools are educated. The State contributes annually to its support fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000). Large and substantial dormitories for students, professors' houses, school houses and work shops, have been erected for the Agricultural and Mechanical College at Blacksburg, which is now in a highly prosperous condition.

An Agricultural Department has been created and is now sustained at an annual cost of about twelve thousand dollars ($12,000).

The disabled soldiers, and the widows of soldiers who lost their lives in the late war, have been cared for; the State now paying annually in pensions one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000), and annually to the support of disabled soldiers in the soldiers' home, thirty thousand dollars ($30,000).

Commodious, convenient and substantial buildings for the care of the unfortunate insane have been erected, and the annual contribution to their support is three hundred and ten thousand dollars ($310,000).

The deaf, the dumb and the blind are supported and educated in the attractive establishment at Staunton at an annual cost of thirty-seven thousand, five hundred dollars ($37,500).

The oyster beds have been surveyed and platted, and have been saved from destruction by a sufficient fleet of armed steamers and sailing vessels. They now yield a revenue to the State and give support to a large number of her people.

The public debt has been settled and the interest promptly paid. The penitentiary has been so well managed that it now yields a revenue instead of being a burden to the taxpayers.

Hagey's

King Heater.

PATENTED.

TESTIMONIALS OF PURCHASERS.

This is to certify that I bought of J. R. Richardson, last February, one of the Hagey's King Heaters. It has proved most satisfactory in every respect, being a great economizer of fuel and a king of heaters. I have used coal for the past eighteen years, but since buying the King Heater I am so much pleased with it that I have abandoned the use of coal and will substitute for it wood and another Hagey's King Heater.

Respectfully,
Henry L. Upshur.

J. R. Richardson.

Dear Sir:—In complying with your request relative to the test I have given the Hagey stove, I can say it has given perfect satisfaction, and find it does all that the advertisement claims for it to do. Yours truly,

W. R. Fisher.
